The Company's investment property portfolio (including properties held for sale) comprises agricultural and non-agricultural lands, aggregating BGN 310,793 thousand as at 31 December 2023. This carrying value is determined based on an estimation of the fair value of individual properties from the portfolio at the reporting date.

The Company's policy is to engage an external valuation specialist for this purpose. The fair valuation of properties is performed using valuation techniques utilizing a combination of observable and unobservable inputs, information for which is disclosed in Note 6.1 and Note 6.2 to the financial statements. The fair valuation technique is a combination of market comparable method and income approach as disclosed in Note 6.1 and Note 6.2. The fair valuation is inherently uncertain, involving various assumptions.

Due to the significance of the investment properties (representing 92% of the Company's total assets) and the related estimation uncertainty, this is considered a key audit matter.

In this area, our audit procedures included, among others:

- We obtained an understanding over the process of investment property valuation, including the related review and approval control procedures of the management.
- We evaluated the objectivity, independence and expertise of the external appraiser.
- We involved our internal valuation specialists to assist us in assessing whether the valuation techniques applied are appropriate in view of IFRS requirements, as well as whether the key assumptions used (such as sale and offer prices and rent level) are reasonable and relevant by reviewing the available market and historical transactions data.
- With the assistance of our internal valuation experts, we developed own range for the fair value of investment properties, based on observable market data with the aim to compare and evaluate the reasonability of the point estimate of the fair value for the different investment properties owned by the Company.
- We performed with the assistance of our valuation experts a comparison of the key input data used by the external appraiser such as offer prices, rent levels and square meters to price ranges applied in historical transactions, rent levels on active contracts and data from the property register respectively.
- We evaluated the adequacy of the investment property valuation disclosures.

Key audit matter	How our audit addressed the key audit matter
Provision for dividends due
The Company's disclosures about the provision for dividends are provided in Note 11.2 to the financial statements.
The Company's provision for dividends due for the year 2023 at the amount of BGN 17,064 thousand (dividend per share of BGN 0.20) reflects its legal obligation to distribute minimum level of dividends at the reporting date. To determine the amount of the provision the Company estimates the distributable result for the year by reference to the reported financial result adjusted for the effects of specific accounting transactions (such as investment property valuations and disposals). This process is manual in nature and is inherently complex, as it requires the Company's management to make specific legal considerations (such as the requirements of the Act on Special Purpose Investment Companies and Securitization Companies and the Commerce Act) and utilize large volume of historical data. Note 11.2 to the financial statements presents more information in this respect. Due to the fact that dividend per share is a key financial indicator for the Company, the complex nature of the calculation of the provision for dividends due and its significance (representing 86% of the Company's total liabilities), this is considered a key audit matter.	In this area, our audit procedures included, among others: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • We tested the mathematical accuracy of the calculation of the provision for dividends due. • We compared financial result adjustments (such as fair value gains and losses recognised in the current year profit) to arrive at the distributable result to the accounting records for the current and prior periods and where necessary, to the relevant supporting documents and calculations. • We tested a sample of historical input data related to the cost of investment properties for accuracy and completeness, through comparison to primary accounting documents, such as notary deeds, documents for payment of taxes and accounting records of the Company. • We assessed the nature of the financial result adjustments made to arrive at the distributable result by analyzing the specific legal requirements (such as the requirements of the Act on Special Purpose Investment Companies and Securitization Companies and the Commerce Act). • We evaluated the adequacy of the disclosures for the provision for dividends due.

Information Other than the Financial Statements and Auditor's Report Thereon

Management is responsible for the other information. The other information, which we have obtained prior the date of our auditor's report, comprises the management report, including the corporate governance statement and the remuneration report, prepared by management in accordance with Chapter Seven of the Accountancy Act, but does not include the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon, unless and to the extent explicitly specified in our report.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact.

We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and presentation of the financial statements that give a true and fair view in accordance with IFRS, as adopted by the EU, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with ISAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves true and fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, actions taken to eliminate threats or safeguards applied.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

The Company has been constituted for an unlimited duration.

The Company has a one-tier management system. The financial statements have been prepared on a historical cost basis with the exception of investment property, including investment property held for sale, which are measured at fair value.

The Company has prepared its financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2023 on a going concern basis which assumes that it will continue in business for the foreseeable future and that the realization of assets and the settlement of liabilities will be done in the ordinary course of business. The future financial results of the Company depend on the broader economic environment in which it operates. Factors that specifically affect the Company's results include zero or negative economic growth, agricultural land market conditions, liquidity of investments, investment property occupancy, as well as any changes in the current legislation regulating the relations in the agricultural sector. The Company has determined that at this stage the economic sanctions and potential macroeconomic effects in Bulgaria and Europe, following the military conflict between Russia and Ukraine, as well as that between Israel and Palestine, do not affect the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. The Company has significant cash in banks with a good credit rating in the amount of BGN 23,980 thousand, which is sufficient to fully cover the current liabilities of the Company as of 31 December 2023, amounting to BGN 19,832 thousand.

Based on an assessment of the Company’s ability to continue as a going concern, the management has not identified any indications, facts, circumstances which make the going concern assumption not appropriate or give rise to any material going concern uncertainties to be disclosed in these financial statements. As such the financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis.

Revenue from contracts with customers

The Company is in the business of purchase of right of ownership and other material rights on real estate with the purpose of their management, renting, leasing, and/or sale. Revenue from contracts with customers is recognized when the control of the property is transferred to the customer at the amount that reflects the consideration to which the Company expects to be entitled to in exchange for the investment property. The Company has generally concluded that it is a principal in its revenue arrangements, because it controls the property before transferring it to the client.

The disclosures of significant accounting judgements, estimates and assumptions relating to revenue from contracts with customers are provided in Note 3.

Sale of investment property

Revenue from sale of investment property is recognized in the statement of comprehensive income at the point in time when the control of the property is transferred to the customer, which is generally the transfer of the legal ownership, except for sales with deferred payment terms. The disclosures of significant accounting judgements, estimates and assumptions in relation to the transfer of control, when selling investment property with deferred payment terms, are disclosed in Note 3.

In determining the transaction price for the sale of investment property, the Company estimates the effects of the variable consideration and the existence of significant financing component.

(i) Variable consideration

If the consideration in a contract includes a variable amount, the Company estimates the amount of consideration to which it is entitled in exchange for the transfer of ownership of the investment property to the customer. The variable consideration is estimated at contract inception and constrained until it is highly probable that a significant revenue reversal (reintegration) in the amount of cumulative revenue recognised will not occur when the associated uncertainty with the variable consideration is subsequently resolved. Some contracts for sale of investment property provide the customer with a right to terminate the contract at any time during the terms of the contract. The rights of termination give rise to variable consideration. The Company also enters into contracts for sale with deferred payment terms with an option for early transfer of the legal ownership for a different consideration.

- Rights of return

The Company has entered into five-year contracts for sale of agricultural land with deferred payment terms. The payment of the consideration is made in annual instalments. The right to use the land is passed to the buyer upon the receipt of a non-returnable advance payment, while the legal transfer of ownership is carried out upon the full payment of the selling price. The buyer is entitled to withdraw from the contract at any time during its agreed period. In such cases the non-refundable advance payment is retained by the Company, while each payment, exceeding this amount, is reimbursed to the buyer.

The Company uses the expected value method to estimate the amount of the contracts that will not be terminated as this method best predicts the amount of variable consideration to which the Company will be entitled. The requirements in IFRS 15 on constraining estimates of variable consideration are also applied in order to determine the amount of variable consideration that can be included in the transaction price. On the basis of the significant accounting judgments made, disclosed in Note 3, the Company considers that its customers are not expected to terminate any contract for sale with deferred payment terms and therefore, as of 31 December 2023, the Company has not recognized a refund liability or a right of return asset.

- Rights for early exercise of a contract with different rates of consideration

The Company enters into contracts with deferred payment terms for sale of agricultural land for a period of 5 (five) years. These contracts contain options for early payment between the nineteenth (19th) and forty-eighth (48th) month from the contract inception date (upon the full payment of the non-returnable advance payment) with a different amount of consideration for each option. The transfer of the legal title is made after the option is being exercised. Based on the significant accounting judgments disclosed in Note 3, the Company recognizes revenue on such contracts on the lowest agreed selling price.

(ii) Significant financing component

The Company receives short-term advances from its customers in relation to direct sales contracts. Using the practical expedient in IFRS 15, the Company does not adjust the promised amount of consideration for the effects of a significant financing component if it expects, at contract inception, that the period between the transfer of the promised good or service to the customer and when the customer pays for that good or service will be one year or less.

For sales contracts with deferred payment, the Company receives the consideration from its clients in instalments for a period of 5 /five/ years. The transaction price for such contracts is discounted, using the rate that would be reflected in a separate financing transaction between the Company and its customers at contract inception, to take into consideration the significant financing component. The difference between the gross and present value of the receivable is treated as deferred income but is not recognized as a liability in the statement of financial position. Financial income on sale contracts with deferred payment terms is recognized during the term of the contract.

Contract balances

(i) Contract assets

A contract asset is the right to consideration in exchange for the right of ownership of the investment property transferred to the customer. If the Company performs its obligation by transferring assets to a customer before the customer pays consideration or before payment is due, a contract asset is recognised for the earned consideration that is conditional. In case of deferred payment sale of investment property where the client makes the payment of consideration by annual instalments based on a predetermined repayment schedule, the present value of the contractual payments is recognized as a receivable on a deferred payment, i.e. as a contract asset.

(ii) Trade receivables

A receivable represents the Company's right to an amount of consideration that is unconditional (i.e., only the passage of time is required before payment of the consideration is due). Please, refer to accounting policies of financial assets in section f) Financial instruments – initial recognition and subsequent measurement.

Cost to obtain a contract/ Contract performance costs

The Company is obliged to pay commissions due to its brokers for each contract that they conclude. As the revenue from sale of investment property is recognized at a certain point of time and because the contracts are not of long-term character, the Company has elected to apply the optional practical expedient for costs to obtain a contract which allows the Company to immediately expense sales commissions (presented as hired service expenses).

Revenue from rent and lease of investment property

Rental income from operating leases of property is recognized on a straight-line basis over the whole lease term.

Interest income

Interest income is recognized using the effective interest rate method, i.e. the interest rate that discounts the expected future cash outflows over the expected useful life of the financial instrument, or a shorter period where appropriate, to the carrying amount of the financial asset. Interest income is included in the finance income in the statement of comprehensive income.

c) Expenses

Expenses include costs for hired services, employee benefits expense, impairment loss on receivables, finance and other costs. They are recognized for the period of their occurrence under the accrual basis. Brokerage fees payable under operating lease contracts of investment property are reported as operating expenses for the period in which they arise (upon the conclusion of the operating lease contract).

d) Taxes

Corporate income tax

The Company is established pursuant to the provisions of the Act on Special Investment Purpose Companies and on Securitization Companies (ASIPCSC) and is exempt from taxation with Bulgarian corporate income tax in compliance with Article 175 of the Corporate Income Tax Act.

As a result, the Company does not owe and has not accrued current income tax and deferred income tax for the relevant period as reported in the present financial statements.

e) Basic earnings per share

Basic earnings per share is calculated by dividing the profit for the period attributable to the ordinary shareholders of the entity by the weighted average number of ordinary shares outstanding during the period.

The weighted average number of shares is calculated by adjusting the ordinary shares in issue at the beginning of the period by the number of the shares bought back or issued during the period, multiplied by a time-weighting factor, i.e. the number of days that the specific shares are outstanding as a proportion of the total number of days in the period.

f) Financial instruments – initial recognition and subsequent measurement

Financial assets

Initial recognition and measurement

Financial assets are classified, at initial recognition, as subsequently measured at amortised cost, fair value through other comprehensive income (OCI), and fair value through profit or loss.

The classification of financial assets at initial recognition depends on the financial asset's contractual cash flow characteristics and the Company's business model for managing them. With the exception of trade receivables that do not contain a significant financing component or for which the Company has applied the practical expedient, the Company initially measures a financial asset at its fair value plus, in the case of a financial asset not at fair value through profit or loss, transaction costs. Trade receivables that do not contain a significant financing component or for which the Company has applied the practical expedient are measured at the transaction price determined under IFRS 15. Refer to the accounting policies in section b) Revenue from contracts with customers.

In order for a debt financial asset to be classified and measured at amortised cost or fair value through OCI, it needs to give rise to cash flows that are 'solely payments of principal and interest (SPPI)' on the principal amount outstanding. This assessment is referred to as the SPPI test and is performed at an instrument level.

The Company's business model for managing financial assets refers to how it manages its financial assets in order to generate cash flows. The business model determines whether cash flows will result from collecting contractual cash flows, selling the financial assets, or both.

Purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within a time frame established by regulation or convention in the market place (regular way trades) are recognised on the trade date, i.e., the date that the Company commits to purchase or sell the asset.

Subsequent measurement

The subsequent measurement of the financial assets depends on their classification as follows:

Financial assets carried at amortised cost

The Company measures financial assets at amortised cost if both of the following conditions are met:

- The financial asset is held within a business model with the objective to hold financial assets in order to collect contractual cash flows; and
- The contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

Financial assets at amortised cost are subsequently measured using the effective interest (EIR) method and are subject to impairment. Gains and losses are recognised in profit or loss when the asset is derecognised, modified or impaired.

The Company's financial assets at amortised cost include trade receivables and receivables from sales with deferred payment terms.

Derecognition

A financial asset (or, where applicable, a part of a financial asset or part of a group of similar financial assets) is primarily derecognised (i.e., removed from the Company's statement of financial position) when:

- The rights to receive cash flows from the asset have expired; or
- The Company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the asset or has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under a 'pass-through' arrangement; and either (a) the Company has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, or (b) the Company has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the asset.

When the Company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from an asset or has entered into a pass-through arrangement, it evaluates if, and to what extent, it has retained the risks and rewards of ownership. When it has neither transferred nor retained substantially all of the risks and rewards of the asset, nor transferred control of the asset, the Company continues to recognise the transferred asset to the extent of its continuing involvement. In that case, the Company also recognises an associated liability. The transferred asset and the associated liability are measured on a basis that reflects the rights and obligations that the Company has retained.

Continuing involvement that takes the form of a guarantee over the transferred asset is measured at the lower of the initial carrying amount of the asset and the maximum amount of the consideration that the Company could be required to repay.

Impairment of financial assets

Further disclosures relating to impairment of financial assets are also provided in the following notes:

- Disclosures for significant assumptions (Note 3)
- Receivables on lease contracts and sale with deferred payment terms (Note 7)
- Trade receivables (Note 8)

The Company recognises an allowance for expected credit losses (ECLs) for all debt instruments not held at fair value through profit or loss. ECLs are based on the difference between the contractual cash flows due in accordance with the contract and all the cash flows that the Company expects to receive, discounted at an approximation of the original effective interest rate. The expected cash flows will include cash flows from the sale of collateral held or other credit enhancements that are integral to the contractual terms.

For trade receivables and contract assets, the Company applies a simplified approach in calculating ECLs. Therefore, the Company does not track changes in credit risk, but instead recognises a loss allowance based on lifetime ECLs at each reporting date. The Company has established a provision matrix that is based on its historical credit loss experience, adjusted for forward-looking factors specific to the debtors and the economic environment.

The Company analyzes separately receivables on lease contracts and sales with deferred payment terms considering the fair value of the contract collateral less the amounts that would be returned to the customer upon eventual termination of the contract. Based on the significant accounting judgments presented in Note 3, as of 31 December 2023 the Company does not recognize a provision for receivables on lease contracts and sales with deferred payment terms.

f) Financial instruments – initial recognition and subsequent measurement (continued)

Initial recognition and measurement

Financial liabilities are classified, at initial recognition, as financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss, loans and borrowings, payables, or as derivatives designated as hedging instruments in an effective hedge, as appropriate. All financial liabilities are recognised initially at fair value and, in the case of loans and borrowings and payables, net of directly attributable transaction costs.

The Company's financial liabilities include trade and other payables and dividends payable.

Subsequent measurement

The measurement of financial liabilities depends on their classification, as described below:

Trade and other payables

After initial recognition, trade and other payables are subsequently measured by the Company at amortised cost using the effective interest rate (EIR) method. Gains and losses are recognised in profit or loss when the liabilities are derecognised as well as through the EIR amortisation process.

Amortised cost is calculated by taking into account any discounts or premiums on acquisition and fees or costs that are an integral part of the EIR. The EIR amortisation is included in finance costs in the statement of comprehensive income.

Derecognition

A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is discharged or cancelled or expires. When an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as the derecognition of the original liability and the recognition of a new liability. The difference in the respective carrying amounts is recognised in the statement of comprehensive income.

g) Offsetting of financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the statement of financial position if, and only if, there is a currently enforceable legal right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, or to realise the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously.

h) Fair value measurement

The Company measures its non-financial assets such as investment property and investment property held for sale at fair value at the reporting date. The fair values of financial assets measured at amortized cost are disclosed in Note 16.

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability takes place either:

- in the principal market for the asset or liability; or
- in the absence of a principal market, in the most advantageous market for the asset or liability.

The principal or the most advantageous market must be accessible to by the Company.

The fair value of an asset or a liability is measured using the assumptions that market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, assuming that market participants act in their economic best interest.

A fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

h) Fair value measurement (continued)

The Company uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximizing the use of relevant observable inputs and minimizing the use of unobservable inputs.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the financial statements are categorized within the fair value hierarchy, described as follows, based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole:

- Level 1 — Quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities;
- Level 2 — Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is directly or indirectly observable;
- Level 3 — Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable.

For assets and liabilities that are recognized in the financial statements on a recurring basis, the Company determines whether transfers have occurred between Levels in the hierarchy by re-assessing categorization (based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole) at the end of each reporting period and determines whether it is necessary to make transfers from one level into another.

The management of the Company determines the policies and procedures applied to fair value measurement made on a recurring basis as well as to fair value measurement made on a non-recurring basis for investment property and investment property held for sale.

Under normal conditions, the fair value measurement of investment property and investment property held for sale is subject to valuation made by external independent valuers. External valuers are selected on the basis of their professional experience, qualities and reputation. After discussions with the external valuations experts, the management decides which valuation techniques and inputs are most relevant to be used on a case-by-case basis.

At each reporting date, the management analyzes the changes in the values of the assets that are subject to re-measurement in accordance with the accounting policies applied by the Company. This includes reviewing the key inputs used in the last measurement and comparing them with the relevant historical information involving contracts and other appropriate documentation. In addition, the management, together with the external valuations experts, compares the changes in the fair value of each asset or liability with the appropriate external sources to assess whether the changes are reasonable.

For the purpose of fair value disclosures, the Company has determined classes of assets and liabilities on the basis of the nature, characteristics and risks of the asset or liability and the level of the fair value hierarchy as explained above.

i) Share capital

The share capital of the Company is in the form of ordinary registered dematerialized shares. The excess of the share issue proceeds received over the par value of the shares is reported as a share premium.

Expenses that are directly attributable to the issuance of new shares are recognized in equity as a reduction in the proceeds of the issuance of shares thus eliminating the effect of taxes on income.

A liability for cash distributions to shareholders is recognized when the distribution is authorized or required by law and is no longer at the discretion of the Company. The corresponding amount is debited directly to equity.

j) Investment property

Investment property is property held to earn rentals or for capital appreciation or both. Investment property is initially measured at cost, including transaction costs. The subsequent costs related to the investment property, which has already been recognized, are added to the carrying amount of the investment property when it is probable that the Company will receive future economic benefits connected with the asset and when the asset acquisition price can be reliably valued.

Investment property is re-measured at fair value which reflects the actual market state and circumstance as of the balance sheet date. Gains or losses arising from changes in the fair value of investment property must be included in net profit or loss for the period in which it arises.

The investment property is derecognized upon its sale or permanent withdrawal from use in case that no future economic benefits are expected from its disposal. Gains or losses arising from the permanent withdrawal from use of the investment property or its disposal are included in the statement of comprehensive income in the period of the withdrawal or disposal.

The investment properties are transferred to investment properties held for sale when there is a signed preliminary sale contract and when part of the total amount of the advance payment is paid by the customer.

k) Investment property held for sale

The Company classifies investment property as held for sale when its carrying amount will be recovered through sale rather than through continuing use. In order for this to be the case, the property must be available for immediate sale in its present condition and the sale is likely to be implemented within 12 months. Investment property held for sale is measured at fair value.

Events or circumstances may extend the period to complete the sale beyond one year. An extension of the period required to complete a sale does not preclude an asset from being classified as held for sale if the delay is caused by events or circumstances beyond the Company's control and there is sufficient evidence that the entity remains committed to its plan to sell the asset.

l) Leases

On the date of entry into force of the contract, the Company assesses whether the contract represents or contains a lease. Namely, whether the contract transfers the right to control the use of the identified asset for a certain period of time.

Company as a lessor

Leases in which the Company does not transfer substantially all the risks and rewards incidental to ownership of an asset are classified as operating leases. Rental income arising is accounted for on a straight-line basis over the lease term and is included in the statement of comprehensive income due to its operating nature.

m) Operating segments

An operating segment is a component of the Company:

- a) that engages in business activities from which it may earn revenues and incur expenses (including revenues and expenses, relating to transactions with other components of the same Company);
- b) whose operating results are reviewed by the management of the Company, the chief operating decision maker, to make decisions about resources to be allocated to the segment and assess its performance; and
- c) for which discrete information is available.

Two or more operating segments may be aggregated into a single operating segment, if the segments have similar economic characteristics and are similar in various prescribed respects:

- a) the nature of the services;
- b) the type of class of customer for their services;
- c) the methods used to provide their services; and
- d) the nature of the regulatory environment relating to public services.

A single external customer from which the Company receives more than 5% of its revenue is considered to be a separate customer.

As of 31 December 2023 and 31 December 2022 the Company does not have separate reportable operating segments. Additional information about the revenue from sales to external customers is presented in Note 5.1.

n) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents in the statement of financial position comprise cash on hand and in current accounts and short-term deposits with an original maturity of up to 3 months. The management of the Company considers that deposits with maturity of above 3 months meet the criteria for cash equivalents, as they are easily convertible into cash without any material loss of value. These deposits are convertible into cash without a written notice and without the Company being charged early termination fees, except for interest already accrued.

For the purposes of the statement of cash flows, cash and cash equivalents are defined above. The Company recognizes investment property sales and receivables from sales and rentals of investment property as part of the cash flows from operating activities since they represent the core activity of the Company.

o) Provisions

General

Provisions are recognised when the Company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. Where the Company expects some or all of a provision to be reimbursed, for example under an insurance contract, the reimbursement is recognised as a separate asset but only when the reimbursement is virtually certain. The expense relating to any provision is presented in the statement of comprehensive income, net of any reimbursement. If the effect of the time value of money is material, provisions are discounted using a current pre tax rate that reflects, where appropriate, the risks specific to the liability. Where discounting is used, the increase in the provision due to the passage of time is recognised as a finance cost.

p) Dividends payable

In compliance with the requirements of the Act on Special Investment Purpose Companies and Securitization Companies (ASIPCSC) the Company is obliged to distribute as dividend not less than 90% of the profit (book profit) for the financial year, adjusted with the effect from subsequent valuations of investment property and the effect from all transactions with investment property, carried out throughout the year. The required minimum amount of dividends payable for the current reporting period in accordance with ASIPCSC is reported in retained earnings decrease for the current period while the difference between the approved dividend payments by the shareholders and the minimum required amount is reported for the next accounting period in retained earnings decrease after a decision taken at the General Assembly of the shareholders.

The dividends shall be paid within 12 months from the end of the respective financial year.

2.3 Changes in accounting policies and disclosures

The standards/amendments that are effective and have been endorsed by the European Union

The accounting policies adopted are consistent with those of the previous financial year except for the following IFRS and amendments to IFRS which have been adopted by the Company as of 1 January 2023:

- IFRS 17 insurance contracts,
- IAS 1 Presentation of Financial Statements and IFRS Practice Statement 2: Disclosure of Accounting policies (Amendments),
- IAS 8 Accounting policies, Changes in Accounting Estimates and Errors: Definition of Accounting Estimates (Amendments),
- IAS 12 Income taxes: Deferred Tax related to Assets and Liabilities arising from a Single Transaction (Amendments),
- IAS 12 Income taxes: International Tax Reform - Pillar Two Model Rules (Amendments)

The newly adopted IFRS and amendments to IFRS did not have a material impact on Company's accounting policies.

3. Significant accounting judgments, estimates, and assumptions

The preparation of the Company's financial statements requires management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities, and the disclosure of contingent liabilities, at the end of the reporting period. However, uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in outcomes that require a material adjustment to the carrying amount of the asset or liability affected in future periods.

Judgments

In the process of applying the Company's accounting policies, management has made the following judgments, which have the most significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements:

ADVANCE TERRAFUND ADSIC

Transfers to investment property held for sale

In accordance with its investment objectives, the Company classifies the acquired property as investment property at the time of their initial recognition. Subsequently, the management makes judgments regarding the transfers from investment property to investment property held for sale when their carrying amount would be recovered through sale rather than through continuing use of the asset. The existence of signed preliminary sale agreements and the receipt of earnest payments by customers under deferred payment contracts, finance leases or direct sales as of the end of the reporting period, are considered to be evidence for the change in the intentions of the management. Thus, the Company presents the respective property as property held for sale at the end of the reporting period. Upon termination of the preliminary contract without the sale of the investment property subject to the contract being realized, the Company reclassifies the property as an investment property at its fair value. Significant accounting policies for transfers to investment property are presented in Note 2.2. (k).

Revenue from contracts with customers

The Company applied the following judgements that significantly affect the determination of the amount and timing of revenue from contracts with customers:

- Determining the timing when the control over the property is transferred to the customer under contracts with deferred payment terms

When entering into sales agreements requiring non-returnable advance payments by the buyer and deferred transfer of the legal title, the Company analyzes whether the material risks and rewards of ownership of the assets are transferred to the buyer at the time of the contract inception (and the transfer of the physical possession of the asset) or at a later point in time coincident with the transfer of the legal title. These type of contracts are agreed for a period of 5 /five/ years while the payments are made in equal annual instalments. The right to use the land is passed to the buyer upon the receipt of non-returnable advance payment under the terms of the signed contract, while the transfer of the legal title passes to the buyer upon the full payment of the selling price. The buyer is entitled to withdraw from the contract at any time during its agreed period. In this event, the Company retains the non-refundable advance payment made, while each payment, other than the non-returnable amount, is reimbursed to the buyer.

In making its judgment the Company has analyzed 1) the timing when the risks and rewards of the use of the asset have been transferred to the buyer, which the Company has estimated to occur at the moment the legal rights to use the property are granted to the buyer; 2) the existence of a payment entitlement for the asset as at the time of the transfer of physical possession to the customer – the Company has come to the conclusion that the existence of a binding agreement and a significant non-refundable advance payment supports the judgment that the customer has a significant economic incentive to pay the negotiated transaction price; 3) the Company has estimated that the retention of the legal title to the property is made with the aim to ensure the reimbursement of the agreed consideration and was therefore not an indication of the timing of the transfer of control over the property. Due to these factors, the Company has concluded that the timing of transfer of control under deferred payment transactions coincides with the timing of the transfer of the physical possession of the asset and the payment of the non-refundable amount by the customer.

- Determining the estimate of the constraint on the variable consideration up to the amount for which it is highly probable that a significant reversal of the revenue recognized will not occur in the future.

As described above, sales of investment property with deferred payment terms include a right of return, which gives rise to variable consideration. The Company also enters into contracts with deferred payment terms that contain several options for early transfer of the ownership at a different (reduced) amount of the consideration respectively.

In estimating the variable consideration, the Company is required to use either the expected value method or the most likely amount method based on which better predicts the amount of consideration to which it will be entitled. The Company has determined that the expected value method is the appropriate method to use in estimating the variable consideration under the sale contracts of investment property.

The Company has determined that the estimates of variable consideration in relation to the right of return under sale contracts are not constrained based on its historical experience, business forecast and the current economic conditions. In order to reach this conclusion, the Company has analyzed various factors, including but not limited to: the amount of the non-refundable advance payment against the total amount of the transaction price, the expected fair value of the assets subject to such type of transactions against the recoverable amount of the transaction price, the historical experience relating to exercised options for termination by the customers, and has estimated that it is reasonably certain that the Company will obtain economic benefits from the transaction, and the option to terminate the transaction and return the property will not be exercised.

The Company updates its estimates of expected returns / terminated sale contracts with deferred payment terms at the end of each reporting period based on indicators related to the changes in the market value of agricultural land, historical experience and other economic factors. As of 31 December 2023 and as of 31 December 2022, the Company has estimated that the probability of a significant reversal in the amount of revenue recognized in relation to sale contracts with deferred payment terms is insignificant. Accordingly, the Company does not recognize any refund liabilities for expected returns, as well as assets for rights of return.

With regards to sale contracts with deferred payment terms containing several options for earlier payment at a reduced price, the Company has no historical experience and such an experience would not be relevant in making a reasonable judgment in relation to the exercise of the option for early payment at a lower price. In this case, the Company uses the constraint on variable consideration and recognizes revenue up to the amount of the lowest agreed price. In the event that the option is not exercised, the Company recognizes revenue from the sale of investment property with regards to the next largest amount of the agreed reduced price.

- Consideration of significant financing component in a contract

Taking into consideration the length of time between the customer's payment and the transfer of the control over the asset, as well as the prevailing interest rates in the market, the Company has come to the conclusion that, for contracts with deferred payment terms where the client pays the agreed consideration for a period of five years through equal annual instalments, there is a significant financing component.

In determining the interest rate to be applied to the amount of consideration, the Company concluded that 5 / five / per cent is appropriate because this is commensurate with the rate that would be applied in a separate financing transaction between the Company and its customer at contract inception. The difference between the gross and present value of the receivable is treated as a deferred income but is not recognized as a liability in the statement of financial position. Financial income from deferred payment sale contracts is recognized for the term of the contract.

Dividends payable calculation

In compliance with the requirements of the Act on Special Investment Purpose Companies and Securitization Companies, the Company is obliged to distribute as dividend not less than 90% of the profit (book profit) for the financial year, adjusted with the effect from all investment property transactions carried out throughout the year, including the gains/losses on subsequent valuations of investment property. Additional information about the recognized dividends payable as of 31 December 2023 is presented in Note 11.

The Company as a lessor

The company has leased some of its investment property. Based on an assessment of the terms of the agreements, the Company has classified them as those in which the lease term does not cover major part of the economic life of the investment property and the present value of the minimum lease payments does not substantially cover the full fair value of the investment property, that is, the Company retains substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of these properties and considers the contracts as operating leases.

The significant accounting policies to apply in relation to leases are presented in Note 2.2 (l).

"De facto" control

As of 31 December 2023, the Company has over 2,100 shareholders and a fragmented shareholder structure, which consists of a large number of shareholders holding a percentage of the capital below 7% (Note 10.1) and the service company Karol Finance EOOD with ultimate owner Stanimir Marinov Karolev, which owns 32.25% of the capital and votes in the General Assembly. Over the years, the participation/representation of the shareholders in the held general meetings has been observed in the range of 50% to 60% of the shares of the Company's capital.

If these trends related to the attendance of shareholders at the General Meeting are maintained, the service company Karol Finance EOOD, with ultimate owner Stanimir Marinov Karolev, could have the necessary votes to form a majority for making a decision on the proposals on the agenda of the relevant General Meeting, could accordingly exercise "de facto" control over the company.

The company has made all necessary disclosures in connection with the service company Karol Finance EOOD with ultimate owner Stanimir Marinov Karolev in note 13.1 of the financial statement.

Deposits with a maturity of more than three months

The company concludes contracts with banks for short-term deposits - with a term of 3 to 12 months. They are compounded at agreed fixed interest rates. In case of early termination of the deposit, the Company owes a penalty - only the interest charged at the time of early termination. The Company's management considers that these deposits are entered into for the purpose of managing cash availability and meeting short-term cash needs, and therefore meet the criteria for a cash equivalent, since the cash received upon early termination of the deposits would be equal to those received under current accounts of the Company.

Estimates and assumptions

The key assumptions concerning the future and other key sources of estimation uncertainty at the reporting date, that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets within the next financial year are discussed below:

Fair value of investment property

The investment property of the Company is valued at fair value by an independent appraiser licensed by the Ministry of Agriculture. The assessment was made in the absence of representative and official agro-market information for 2023, including the price levels of agricultural land, rent levels and yields by region and others. Further information is provided in Note 6. The valuation of the independent valuer as of 31 December 2023 and 31 December 2022 is based on the market analogy method (comparative method) and the method of capitalization of the land rent (income approach).

Provision for expected credit losses of trade receivables and receivables from sales under lease and sale with deferred payment terms

The Company uses a provision matrix to calculate ECLs for trade receivables. The provision matrix is initially based on the Company's historical observed default rates. The Company calibrates the matrix to adjust the historical credit loss experience with forward-looking information. For instance, if forecast economic conditions (i.e., gross domestic product) are expected to deteriorate over the next year which can lead to an increased number of defaults in the agricultural sector, the historical default rates are adjusted.

At every reporting date, the historical observed default rates are updated and changes in the forward-looking estimates are analysed.

The assessment of the correlation between historical observed default rates, forecast economic conditions and ECLs is a significant estimate. The amount of ECLs is sensitive to changes in circumstances and forecasted economic conditions. The Company's historical credit loss experience and forecast of economic conditions may also not be representative of customer's actual default in the future. The information about the ECLs on the Company's trade receivables is disclosed in Note 8 and Note 15.

The Company analyzes separately receivables on lease contracts and sales with deferred payment terms considering the fair value of the contract collateral less the amounts that would be reimbursed to the customer upon eventual termination of the contract. As at 31 December 2023, the fair value of the collateral under the contracts less the amounts that would be reimbursed to the customer upon termination of the contract exceeds the receivables on lease contracts and sales with deferred payment terms included in the statement of financial position. Accordingly, the Company did not recognize a provision for ECLs for receivables on lease contracts and sales with deferred payment terms. Additional information on receivables from sales under lease and deferred payment terms contracts is presented in Note 7.

Fair value measurement

As of 31 December 2023 and 31 December 2022 a valuation of the Company's investment property is made by an independent licensed valuer who holds the appropriate professional qualification and uses the latest observations on the locations of the investment property. The current use of the Company's investment property is considered to be the best and most efficient. For 2023 the valuation is carried out without any official representative agricultural market information, including the price levels of agricultural land, rent levels, levels of crop yields by regions, etc.

As of 31 December 2023 and 31 December 2022 the valuation of the Company's investment property is based on the fair market value model. Fair market value (FMV) is the most likely value at which an asset can be sold on a competitive market and in compliance with all the conditions for realizing a fair and transparent sale, namely: the buyer and the seller are willing and unpressured to trade and have reasonable knowledge of the respective asset; both sides are driven by their own interests; they act independently of any external influence and are aware that the realization period of the transaction should be of reasonable length.

The valuation of the independent appraiser as of 31 December 2023 and 31 December 2022 is based on a combined approach with 80% weighting of the market analogue method (comparative method) and 20% weighting of the method of capitalization of the rent (income approach).

When using the market analogues method, the value of the appraised property is determined by comparing its basic characteristics with the same or similar characteristics of other similar properties, for which offer or sale prices are available. Moreover, the closer to the time of valuation the transactions for which information is made, the more reliable the market value of the appraised property will be.

The main assumptions and unobserved inputs used in estimating the fair values of investment properties using the market analogue method include the average values of real offer or sale prices of similar agricultural properties by districts (including sales made by the company in the current year), which vary in the range of BGN 100 per decare up to BGN 3,000 per decare depending on the location and area of the observed analogues. For properties acquired during 2023, the fair value is the value of their purchase.

When using the method of capitalization of rent, it is assumed that a property can be rented for an infinitely long period of time. In such a case, the purchase of agricultural land for investment purposes, which is expected to have a lifetime eternal income, is considered. The present value of such an eternal asset is obtained by dividing its income from the rate of return.

The average income levels used in the assessment are in the interval from BGN 10 to BGN 100 per decar per year and the defined rate of return is 4%. In order to achieve maximum independence and reliability of results in the method of capitalization, the processed information on the average rent levels of the contracts concluded by the Company for the agricultural year 2023 - 2024 was used.

The changes in the fair values of investment property are recognized in the statement of comprehensive income as profit or loss for the year.

The valuation of investment properties as of 31 December 2023 leads to a significant increase in their fair value. The company believes that the increase in the observed input data has an effect on this, due to the increased volume of transactions for sales and purchases made during the year. The company believes that the overall macroeconomic situation (economic, market and geopolitical shocks (Ukraine-Russia war, as well as that between Israel and Palestine), leading to high levels of price and rent inflation) has an effect on this, as well as the desire of investors to invest in low-risk assets (including agricultural lands).

Sensitivity analysis

Significant increases/decreases in agricultural land market prices would result in substantially higher/(lower) fair values of investment property. Significant increases/reductions in average rental levels of agricultural land would result in substantially higher/(lower) fair value of investment property.

As disclosed above, the valuation of the independent appraiser as of 31 December 2023 and as of 31 December 2022 is based on a combined approach with 80% weighting of the market analogues method (comparative method) and 20% weighting of the capitalization method of the annuity (based on the return on investment). Using the annuity capitalization method, the determined rate of return is 4%.

For sensitivity analysis purposes, the table below presents an analysis of how the estimated fair value of farmland would change using different weights between the two approaches and a different rate of return:

According to the legal team, the lawsuits filed against the buyers of properties from the Company, which affect the ownership of the properties already sold, will be lost and the buyer will be removed from the properties. For this reason, the Company charged BGN 249 thousand provisions for reimbursement of the sales price received to the purchasers.

In connection with the sale contract with deferred payment of the price terminated in December 2020 due to repeated non-fulfilment by the buyer of the obligation to pay the periodic installments and the withheld deposit securing the performance (137 thousand BGN) and penalties for delay (BGN 61 thousand) a case was initiated against Advance Terrafund ADSIC. The expectation of the legal team is that after the conclusion of the case, the Company will be ordered to reimburse the client the delayed penalty (61 thousand BGN) together with legal interest on the same amount. For this reason, a provision in the amount of BGN 81 thousand has been charged, which also includes the legal interest as of 31 December 2023 on the expected liability.

Liquidity risk

In order to assess the exposure to liquidity risk, the Company monitors its cash flows, the maturities of its debt obligations and its liquidity ratio. The Company always maintains sufficient liquid funds to provide financial resources for its activities and to reduce the effects of cash flows fluctuations. The financial resources for the Company's business activities are provided through public offering of securities and through numerous credit possibilities offered by different financial institutions. The Company's loans are secured against the investment property it possesses.

Interest rate risk

The value of the Company's assets depends on the changes in market interest rates. The Company is exposed to the risk related to interest rates fluctuations since the yield on interest-bearing assets changes as a result of the changes in market interest rates. With regard to the floating interest rates, the Company is exposed to a risk related to the interest rate index which is used to determine the value of the relevant financial instrument. As at 31 December 2023, the Company does not have significant financial assets and liabilities with floating interest rates and therefore the Company's exposure to interest rate risk is insignificant.

Foreign currency risk

The Company is exposed to foreign currency risk when carrying out transactions with financial instruments denominated in foreign currencies. The transactions denominated in foreign currencies generate profit and loss from foreign exchange differences. As of 31 December 2023 and 31 December 2022 the financial assets and investments are denominated in BGN and EUR. Since the exchange rate of BGN/EUR is fixed, the foreign currency risk originating from the EUR exposure of the Company is insignificant. As of the reporting date the Company has no exposure to foreign currencies different from BGN and EUR.

Market risk

Market risk is a systematic risk, which influences the value of all assets. It depends on the macroeconomic environment and the state of the capital market in the country. The market risk is beyond the Company's control and as a whole it cannot be reduced or eliminated through diversification. One of the main strategies to reduce market risk and its components is to collect and process information about the macroeconomic environment. Based on this information, the Company can make projections and adapt its investment policy to the expected changes in the environment.

The Company's investment portfolio allocates at least 95% of its assets in agricultural land and up to 5% in land in urbanized territories. The agricultural land is exposed to a low risk related to changes in the level of prices and the level of rents.

Advance Terrafund ADSIC continues to pursue its policy for investing in high quality properties and meeting the needs for the development of modern agriculture and renting or leasing of first class tenants / tenants / under favorable conditions for the Company.

- Fair values of long-term financial assets with fixed interest rates are determined by discounting the estimated future cash flows using current market interest rates.
- Fair values of financial instruments which include cash and short-term deposits, trade receivables, trade payables and other financial assets and liabilities reasonably approximate the respective carrying amounts because of their short-term character.

for 2023

Dear Shareholders,

This report of the activity of Atanas Dimitrov – Investor Relations Director of Advance Terrafund ADSIC for 2023 – is prepared in compliance with the requirements of the Public Offering of Securities Act (POSA). It is presented to the shareholders at the regular General Assembly of the Shareholders.

The main aims in the activity of the Investor Relations Director during the reported period were directed to fulfillment of the duties and the responsibilities, following the respective regulations of the POSA, the Articles of Association and the National Code of Corporate Governance.

During the past 2023 I strived to maintain good, timely and adequate communications with you, with those of our potential investors who expressed interest in the Company, as well as the investment community as a whole. In fulfillment of my obligations, I presented on a timely basis:

- information about the Company as required under the Public Offering of Securities Act to the Financial Supervision Commission, the Bulgarian Stock Exchange, the Central Depository, as well as to all shareholders and investors who requested such information;
- periodic and follow-up information under the POSA and Ordinance No 2 on prospectuses and disclosure of information by listed entities;
- additional information on the progress of the investment activities to all stakeholders.

In fulfillment of its legal obligations to disclose information to the public, the Company has a contract for information services with Service Financial Markets EOOD and disseminates information to shareholders, potential investors and stakeholders in 2023 through the website of the Bulgarian Stock Exchange www.x3news.com for publishing the monthly bulletins and all legally required reports in Bulgarian and English.

As an Investor Relations Director throughout the reported year, I carried out the communication between the investors and the corporate management of the Company. To do this job my principled approach is to treat all investors as equal in rights, to protect their rights and interests and not to announce information, which is not publicly disseminated. In this regard, I submitted information about the Company, its financial condition and investment activity, which I published on a monthly basis in Bulgarian and English language on the website of the BSE www.x3news.com. In this way the information reached simultaneously the current and future investors, the financial analysts and the financial journalists. After announcing the respective information to the capital market institutions and to the public according to the Bulgarian regulations, it is being published on the especially dedicated page “Investor relations” on the website of the Company (www.advanceterrafund.bg). The Company keeps on its Internet page basic commercial and corporate information, information about the current shareholder structure, the Articles of association, the approved rules and policies for Company’s functioning, information about the members of the Board of Directors and the Audit committee, the financial reports for the last 10 years, the materials for past and forthcoming General Assemblies of the Shareholders (GAS), for the decisions taken at the GAS and for the dividends distributed by the Company, information about the Auditor, a financial calendar with announced dates for events important for the investors, information about the issued shares, as well as information of the shareholders' rights and their participation in the GAS.

I maintained a constant telephone connection with the investors and responded in short terms to their written queries for submission of information.

During the year I kept detailed minutes of the meetings of the Board of Directors of the Company, which were reflected in the Diary of the meetings of the Board of Directors for the whole 2023, and I was fully supported for the performance of my duties by the Board of Directors.
